I. General Background

The Philippine Council for Health Research and Development and the Philippine Health Insurance Corporation (PhilHealth) have an ongoing partnership called the PhilHealth STUDIES (Supporting the Thrust for UHC through Data, Information, and Knowledge-Exchange Systems) which provides funding for R&D projects and other related activities that serves the PhilHealth Research Agenda. Research dissemination is a crucial component of this partnership and is mainly achieved through research presentation events, publication of policy notes, journal articles, and IEC materials.
